Annual Meeting 2023

Analytical Political Theory Group

Thursday, June 8 – Friday, June 9 2023, Universität Hamburg

Our annual conference 2023 seeks to provide a broad forum for colleagues working in the field of analytical political and social science. We invite paper proposals on normative and analytical questions addressing any of the following topics:

- Action and decision theory
- Formal theory and game theory
- Computer simulation
- Analytical political philosophy
- Politics, Philosophy and Economics (PPE)
- Empirical theories of justice and empirical research on justice
- Empirical theories of democracy and empirical research on democracy
- Theory-driven electoral studies
- Experimental research

The meeting will be organised by Laura Engel and Claudia Landwehr and will take place in Hamburg.

Please send proposals for presentations (max 1 page) to one of the speakers by March 31, 2023. Conference languages are German and English. Abstracts and presentations can be in either language, although English is preferred.

Speakers of the Analytical Political Theory Group:

Claudia Landwehr, Universität Mainz (landwehr@politik.uni-mainz.de)

Johannes Marx, Universität Bamberg (johannes.marx@uni-bamberg.de)

Jan Sauermann, Universität Oldenburg (jan.sauermann@uni-oldenburg.de)
